Does R.E. make you think about your everyday choices?	Does R.E. make you think about your everyday choices?
Yes it does, it calms me down. I am kinder to others. I am more forgiving. It helps me know the difference between right and wrong. Thinking I can be the best person I can be. It helps me think about others and not just myself.	We learnt about forgiveness in R.E. so I think about it. It makes me think about right and wrong choices. It helps me make moral decisions. To treat everyone the same way. It makes me think about being kinder and more respectful towards other beliefs. It does because of Philosophy. I won't judge other people about their religions before I learn about them.
