

Let Battle Commence!

During this half term, Year 5 will be diving head first into learning all about the Anglo-Saxons and the Vikings, the struggle between them and how they played an important role in the history of the British find out more about a mysterious Anglo-Saxon burial, Sutton Hoo.

The end of our topic will give the children a chance to put their design and craft skills to the test by making their very own model Viking longships.

As part of our English lessons, we will be learning all about – and writing our very own - Viking Sagas, meeting the different Pagan gods and goddesses worshipped by the Vikings and the different adventures they experienced. We will also be exploring poetry, seeking inspiration from the famous Anglo-Saxon poem, Beowulf, and writing our own.

A trip to Time and Tide museum will also add a different dimension to learning about the Anglo-Saxons and Vikings, a relatively new trip but a real hit with past pupils (and us teachers!) from the past couple of years. Some Year 5s will be taking part in the Bikeability cycling programme, learning how to ride safely and confidently. Spring will also see Year 5 introduced to the Ukulele and a terms worth of music lessons, taking place on Wednesday afternoons. In PE, our outdoor curriculum will see the children trying their hand at Tag Rugby, whilst the indoor curriculum will provide our children with opportunities to experience a new and updated RealPE scheme.
