

As we count down to Christmas, we are busy with our Anglo-Saxon topic 'How did England become England?'

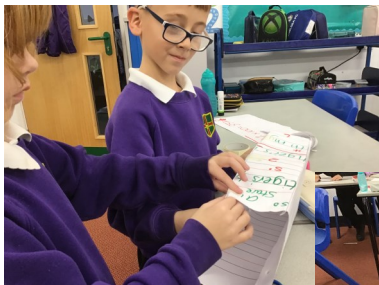

In Maths, we have been learning about fractions including: mixed numbers, improper fractions and finding equivalent fractions by converting them into the lowest common denominator.

In English we are learning about characterisation, using dialogue, action and description to introduce characters in a narrative text.

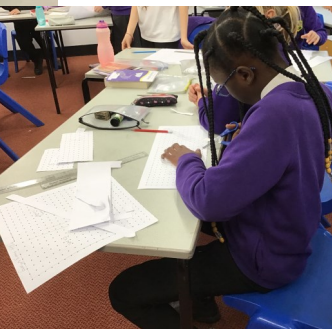

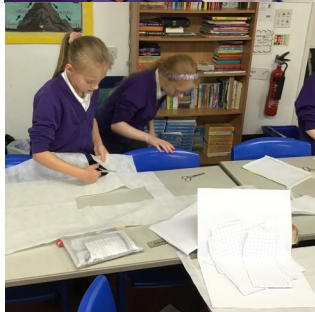

We hope that those of you who joined us for our Christmas Family Café enjoyed crafting with your children and look forward to celebrating with you at the Christmas Carol Service in the Church on Tuesday 19th December.

Design and Technology - Product Brief:

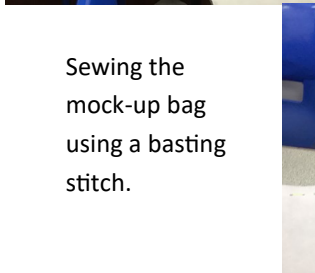

Design a bag for a pupil at Hogwarts

Product design and prototype.

Pattern making and cutting of fabric for mock-up bags.

Sewing the mock-up bag using a basting stitch.

In English we have been learning how to write setting descriptions. Take a look at some of our super work by Noah, Darcie and John-James...

peach glowing lanterns dangled from hanging branches, holding on for dear life. The green sky, and dusty, sandy floor stood still, like ancient statues, only staring ahead. Egg shaped rocks lay like lazy balls snoozing around. Pure berries hang from turquoise bushes as they the berries swayed from side to side with no control.

A radiant, balmy mist dances through dozens of thin, lofty trees that stand tall like soldiers. Jade-green moss climbs the patial, staggering tree who's branches curl and twist like snakes. The surrounding trees are marching onwards, through the phenomenon, pleasing scene. It's a place of enchantment, where nature's beauty shines.

Electric blue lightning crashing through our solar system God like being blending in the sky. Contains it. Breakin' part of the Earth's crust.

We would like to wish you and your families, a very Merry Christmas and a Happy 2024.

We look forward to seeing the children back in school on Thursday 4th January.
